

gon's o-toe fight

down to Aldo

— Jose Aldo was
's Amazon rain ie Edgar is from

w to fight on the
they ever stepped UFC stars quickly rtant survival les-
on.

"It's always better
fight somebody
our own size," Aldo said with a
in.

As the first feath-
weight champion
the UFC has ever
cognized, Aldo occupies a unique
trial arts history.
t away from earn-
on of his own UFC 156 on Satur-
gas, Nev.

rs of being an ight who impro-
of his division
ditioning and pure
y picking on guys ize.

in over Aldo,
e 145-pound title
elt he once held,
ide Randy Cou-
s the only fighters ips in two weight

'll be the biggest won't be as out-
," Edgar said. "I'm forward to it. This een thinking about great to start right
"

f the UFC's annual nt show features
back fight gerio Nogueira
listair Overeem's
month suspension
t to meet Antonio

atches two of the ent fighters

Santa Fe Prep junior Will Lenfestey pulls down a rebound against Mora during the second quarter of a District 2AA matchup Thursday night in Prep Gymnasium. For more photos from the matchup, visit <http://tinyurl.com/ag7umxm> LUIS SÁNCHEZ SATURNO/THE NEW MEXICAN

Hard to handle

Mora struggles with size, speed of Blue Griffins in District 2AA game

By Angela Maria Williams
The New Mexican

It's a district opener that dropped like a bomb. Santa Fe Prep showed off its size and speed as the Blue Griffins took down Mora 57-45 in a District 2AA game Thursday in Prep Gymnasium. It was no small feat for the 17-2 Blue Griffins that some might say have had an easier schedule than most to rack up the wins. But their talent was on fully display from the opening tip to the final seconds. It was almost as if they had something to prove.

coach. "It's a home game and we can't give up home games, not in this district." Mora (12-7) struggled with bigger teams and Prep was no different — perhaps even worse. The Blue Griffins held their edge with 6-foot-6 senior Tex Ritter and 6-4 junior Will Lenfestey to dominate in the paint, as well as go for the long passes to their teammates that led to big plays. It was those passes that led to Prep dominating second quarter and walked into the locker room at half-time up 27-11, because of two key 3-pointers by Prep freshman Francis Castillo y Mulert. "Well, it's all on my teammates, they passed me the ball, they got me open," Mulert said. Casados said he was ecstatic with how his team came out to play, especially in the first half.

Lac
ste
ove
By Ja
The N
TA
most in the
WI
grab Tao
WL
girls
leade
she s
Mo
have on to team Luj
eled.
made
Th
it's th
Th
rewar
Gym
Th
(13-6
stron
ings.
As
7, 1-1)
mom
"Sh
mista
head
old sh
growi
and si Tao
senior and M seven Lujan
that o Luj
rebu
and S
Vegas
Royba
Onl
scorin
The Lujan
Dons'
the pa
"In
becau
games
But
and it
The
eight s
part.
So,
some trict s
the 5-1
from I
who w
son ag
"Us
thing tinez s